The underpinning illustrates the specifics of the work of the student, in connection to the more general descriptions in the rubric. Describe, for each category (performance, report, presentation, defence) the aspects of the student's work that most clearly illustrate your assessment. As a guideline you could give examples for the criteria that you assessed lowest and highest, as well as a criterion that received an average assessment. If applicable, you should also mention aspects that are not mentioned in the rubric but you find relevant in your assessment, in particular points of excellence that make you deviate from the suggested scoring in the rubric.
