

Dear student,

I would like to invite you to apply for the Wageningen University MSc Honours Programme that will start this academic year and is intended for ambitious first year master's students who want and are able to go the extra mile. Are you up to an extra challenge? Eager to get the best out of your study and yourself? Feel like working in a team? Then the MSc Honours Programme might be just the right thing for you.

The MSc Honours Programme is extra-curricular and on top of your regular master programme with an additional study load of 15 credits. The MSc Honours Programme gives you the opportunity to further develop your talents and interests within and outside your study domain. There is one Master Honours Programme for the entire university and we start with a pilot of maximum 24 students this academic year.

The 15 credits are divided into 10 credits working on an interdisciplinary research project, which fits within the life sciences investment & research themes of WUR and is supervised by scientists from both Wageningen University and Wageningen Research. This gives you the unique opportunity to look behind the scenes of the research that takes place at our university and research institutes, and to contribute to it.

The remaining 5 credits are divided into 1 credit introduction weekend and 4 credits personal and professional impact on society and science, such as meetings with inspiring leaders in politics, NGOs, and industry; workshops visual design thinking; guidance in setting and realising personal targets; participation in an (international) Summer School.

For the MSc Honours Programme we are looking for students who are motivated, have the eagerness to learn, are curious and have completed their bachelor study with good grades.

The deadline for application is Monday September 18th. Feel free to join one of our 'Question & Answer' sessions on Thursday September 7th, Monday September 11th, and Thursday September 14th between 12-14 hours at Honours, Forum 118. For more information about the application procedure see attachment 'application procedure'.
