

Collective health insurance WUR

Wageningen University & Research has a collective health insurance specifically for its employees and their family members concluded with Aon.

Specific agreements have been made regarding additional reimbursement for employees who participate in the collective health insurance via AON.

Information about the collective health insurance is available on the AON website, where information is available on the different insurance packages and premiums as well as a list with frequently asked questions. Search for the employer name 'Wageningen University & Research' in the collectives search bar.