

Student for a Day
Master International Development Studies
26 March, 2019 (Tuesday)

Dear future student,

We invite you to be a student for a day at Wageningen University! This day gives you the opportunity to feel what it is like to study at this university. You can visit any of the lectures and workshops in the courses of the programme International Development Studies. These are all courses that are compulsory for our master students depending on their specialization. You are welcome to join as many classes as you want and can decide when to start the day, and when to leave. During the day, you will meet with students and go with them to the classes.
