

STICHTING
'FONDS LANDBOUW EXPORT-BUREAU 1916/1918'

The Stichting Fonds Landbouw Export Bureau 1916/1918 (LEB Foundation) stimulates developments in agricultural research at Wageningen University and Research Centre - including the environmental sciences. The LEB Foundation provides financial support, among other things, for visits to scientific meetings and study trips. The LEB Foundation is chaired by prof. dr. ir. Ivonne Rietjens.

FUNDING GUIDELINES (effective October 1, 2018)
(revised version approved by the Executive Committee on September 18, 2018)

General provisions:

The target group of the LEB Foundation is comprised of: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• PhD students of Wageningen University• Junior scientists without permanent employment and affiliated to Wageningen UR• Researchers at Wageningen UR from developing countries and with limited financial support
Two subsidies per person An individual can qualify for funding twice, provided that the subsidies fall into different categories.
Up to five subsidies per chair group For each chair group there is a maximum of five subsidies per calendar year, regardless of the category in which the subsidies fall. Moreover, the number of PhD students of any one chair group that participate in a PhD study trip counts in determining this total of five subsidies. For example, should four PhD students of the same chair group participate in the trip, this counts as four of the five subsidies. In the event that for instance 10 PhD students of the same chair group participate in the trip, all five subsidies are used up.
Apply a priori A request for funding must be submitted in writing in advance of the relevant activity. Applicants should allow for a processing time of one month.
Funding is not provided for: Personnel expenses, costs of capital goods, and regular publication and travel expenses.
Maximum funding amount There is a maximum funding amount for each activity.
Co-financing The LEB Foundation provides funding based on the principle of co-financing.
Tentative funding amount A tentative funding amount is determined based on an estimate of expenses. The definitive funding amount is based on expenses actually incurred and can never exceed the tentative amount.
Payment afterwards The payment of the subsidy takes place after the activity has been completed.
Reimbursement The final statement of expenses must be submitted within one year from the date that the funded activity took place. If not, the subsidy will be null and void.
Disclaimer: The Executive Committee of the LEB Foundation reserves the right to deviate from the guidelines based on financial or substantive considerations.
