

Self-declaration NEN-ISO 26000:2010

Social Responsibility of Organisations

The management council of Wageningen Environmental Research (WENR) and the Department of Environmental Sciences (DES), part of Wageningen University & Research, declare to apply NEN-ISO 26000:2010, guidelines on social responsibility for all research and education activities in the Netherlands, including the preparatory activities for projects abroad, and to have researched and assessed this, using the process as described in NPR 9026:2011+C1:2012.

The organization declares that it applies the principles and guidelines of NEN-ISO 26000:2010 and guarantees that this will be the case on a continuing basis.

With this self-declaration the organisation gives a foundation and effect of the choices made with regard to its social responsibility in the following areas:

1. Endorsement and application of the seven principles of CSR.
2. Identification and engagement of stakeholders.
3. The seven CSR core subjects and 37 CSR issues.
4. Integration of CSR throughout the organization.

More information on:

<http://www.wur.nl/en/show/Corporate-Social-Responsibility.htm>

<https://intranet.wur.nl/umbraco/en/about-wur/corporate-social-responsibility/>

Name of organization: Wageningen Environmental Research & Department of Environmental Sciences,
Wageningen UR

Location: Wageningen

Address: Droevendaalsesteeg 3, 4
6708 PB Wageningen
The Netherlands

Place and date: Wageningen, October 2017

Signature:

Dr J.A. de Vos
Managing Director
Wageningen Environmental Research
Department of Environmental Sciences

Signature:

M. Roos. MSc
Director Operations
Wageningen Environmental Research
Department of Environmental Sciences