

Circular@WUR Student Poster Challenge

Present your MSc or BSc thesis work to pioneers in the circular bio-based society.

Submit your poster before October 31st, 2021
through circular@wur.nl

WAGENINGEN
UNIVERSITY & RESEARCH

The Circular@WUR conference brings together pioneers in the circular bio-based society from different backgrounds. By participating through your thesis work, you will be contributing to the objectives of the conference; providing pathways to accelerate the transition towards a circular bio-based society.

What?

Showcase your BSc or MSc thesis research, either the proposal or the results, on a poster and gain the opportunity to present your work to the international society and attend the Circular@WUR conference on 6-8 December 2021.

Download the format at the website.

For whom?

This student challenge is open for BSc and MSc students from Wageningen University & Research and students from Dutch strategic partner universities: Eindhoven University of Technology, Utrecht University, the University Medical Center (UMC), University of Twente, Delft University and for students that follow the AMS MADE program.

What's in it for me?

Circular@WUR provides an overview of the state-of-the-art of current knowledge about a circular, bio-based society. At the conference participants can listen to relevant and impactful keynotes, but they can also actually experience the circular challenge themselves by participating in masterclasses, attending relevant sessions and obtaining inspiration by visiting the most innovative circular companies in the Netherlands. 25 winners of the poster competition will obtain the opportunity to present their work and obtain free access to this 3-day conference. Normal (early) registration price for students is €250,-. Download the preliminary program here.
