*At the Ahold Corporate Center in Zaandam
For a period of four to six months beginning March 2014

Ahold, an extraordinary company

Ahold is an international group of quality supermarkets based in the United States and Europe. The foundation of our company is selling great food – this is what we are known for and is our core business. We provide customers with great value and a convenient and innovative shopping experience with a wide range of products and healthy choices. Our vision is to offer all of our stakeholders – our customers, employees, suppliers, shareholders, and the communities we serve – better choice, better value, better life, every day. We are committed to acting responsibly in all that we do.

The department

The Product Integrity (PI) department at Ahold Corporate Center is responsible for issues related to the sourcing of safe and responsible products. This means looking at food and non-food safety, social compliance, and product responsibility across the supply chain. The Product Integrity department implements the responsible product priorities within Ahold's Responsible Retailing strategy.

The assignment/key result areas

- Perform an analysis of social, environmental and animal welfare sustainability issues along the supply chains of our main food and non-food product categories
- Make knowledge and/or advice documents on relevant packaging materials
- Advice on the implementation of environmental sustainability in our supply chains
- Support PI team on a case-by-case project basis

Job requirements

- Academic level: preferably in social sciences, business/supply chain or development studies
- Outstanding analytical skills
- Advanced Excel and PowerPoint skills
- Knowledge or experience in product responsibility
- Good communication skills
- Fluency in spoken and written English
- Flexible, pro-active and independent

We offer

- Challenging and interesting internship for a period of four to six months
- Introduction in a leading, international retail organization
- On-the-job training and support in product integrity issues
- Paid internship (€ 500 / 4 weeks) and travel expenses.
